Local and General:

John Morrison exhibited 14 birds at the Lethbridge Poultry Show last week, 1st to 4th December, and he was successful in winning 13 prizes.

Geo. W. Hall, who has been at the "Circle N" Ranch for the past six months, has left this week to go back to his homestead at Hand Hills.

W. S. Smith, the City barber, is busy painting and renovating his shop and it will be quite a swell place when completed.

H. W. Lockwood, the late City Barber and little Leslie, accompanied by L. May left Crossfield on Sunday afternoon for the old country. Bert goes to Leeds, England, and L. May to Waterloo, near Liverpool. We wish them a safe journey and good luck. If the crowd that gave them a send off was anything to go by they sure got enough good wishes to last a long time.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Saturday, December 5th, at the home of Mrs. Berry. The following officers were elected:--President, Mrs. J. Grasley; Vice-President, Mrs. W. Laut; Sec.-Treas., Mrs. F. Laut; Executive, Mrs. C. Stafford; Mrs. R. S. Boyle, Mrs. Morrison. A library committee, Mrs. W. McRory, Mrs. W. Laut and Mrs. Grasley were appointed. They will get a number of the latest books as soon as possible in order that all may enjoy the benefit, derived from them particularly during the winter months.

I wish to notify my customers that from now on the Galt Coal will be sold at $6.25 in car load lots & $6.50 off the car $6.75 out of the sheds. The Brickettes will be sold at the same price. Terms strictly cash.

Yours truly,

IVOR LEWIS.

The time of Xmas Cheer has come again, and although "Peace on Earth" seems far away yet, we can help to fulfil "Goodwill to men"--but only as we try to help someone else. There are hundreds of little children in Calgary who go hungry every day. Boys and girls are being sent to school without breakfast because the home is destitute. What can we do to help? The Sunday School is planning to help a little. On Sunday the teachers will arrange with each class as to what their offering will be, and they will be asked to bring five or ten cents worth of groceries towards helping the hungry. Any contributions from children outside the Sunday School will be gladly received as well.

Gun Bases Found Near Paris

According to several wounded British soldiers in the American Women's Hospital at Pauigon, the Japanese army has made of the gun bases nearer Paris than the German army got in General von Kluck's advance. They explain that the same way as the building of concrete bases before Namur and Maubeuge and near Soissons, saying it is believed that the Japanese had to make certain stretches of land years before the war and then got exact measurements of the ranges, which is the reason their artillery fire was so effective.

Japan Wants Russian Alliance

"General Oba, the Japanese military attaché to the commandant of the Russian army," says the Times' correspondent, "after an imperial audience at Tsarsko-Selo, gave a statement to the British Gazette, firmly expressing his earnest intent to make a military alliance with the Japanese into a formal alliance. Such an alliance General Oba said would warmly welcome by the Japanese government and people. "General Oba said he believed the moment had arrived to conclude such an alliance. He said that he had met the Russian foreign minister, M. Iswolsky, the Russian Minister to France, and Baron Motono, Japanese Minister to Russia, and had urged them almost to strengthen the bonds of friendship between Japan and Russia."

A REBELLION Food Demanded

The human body will stand a lot of abuse but sometimes it will rebel and demand prompt relief in place of the patient's steady, gradual plod on which it has been made sick.

Then is the time to try Grapenuts, the most nutritious and perfect food in the world.

A woman writes: "Three years ago I was very ill with catarrh of the stomach and was unable to do any work. I laid in bed four months and my stomach was so weak that I could not keep down medicine or food. I had to live on a diet of gruel and emaciated after four months of this starvation that my daughter could easily lift me from bed and put me in a chair. I was then very weak but weak as my stomach was, I accepted, relished and digested Grapenuts without difficulty the first time that I had them. I have had them ever since and have had no trouble with my stomach since."

"I am now strong and in better health than for a great many years and am always growing stronger."

I read on Grapenuts that it is the result of the nourishment that I get. The results have certainly been wonderful in my case and prove that the stomach is so weak it will not digest Grapenuts.

"My baby got a fit from feeding on Grapenuts. He was very ill and I had to stop giving the food to him, but I guess it is a healthy fit for his health is not perfect." Name given by Canada, P. F. G.

The Indian Troops

A few months ago, General Sir Ian Hamilton, Inspector-General of the Indian Army, issued a sharp order to the first part of the Russo-Japanese war recorded:

"Every ranking soldier who has seen our recent Indian troops is aware that for the requirements of such operations, a good Sikh, Pathan or Gurkha battalion is more reliable and better than a British battalion."

He also wrote: "Why, there is material in the Indian troops which would furnish at least two million soldiers to the 'reserves' of which Lord Kitchener made reference recently."

Much Pain From Kidney Disease

Doctored in Vain Until Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Were Used

Formerly diagnosed as often associated with disorders of the liver and bowels, and under these conditions ordinary kidney medicines usually fail to effect a cure. It is the action of their unique, combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are so remarkable and effective in the most complicated cases.

Mr. Emanuel Bernard, farmer, St. Paul's, Kent County, N.B., writes: "My wife, 55 years of age, was had with kidney disease, and suffered greatly from headaches, pains in bowels and stomach, and her heart aches. She was unable to sleep, and treated by her doctor, with no apparent benefit. She then used five boxes Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them most satisfactory.

This gave such a good opinion of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver pills that we always used them in the house, and they were used for all arrangements of the kidney, liver and bowels." Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, 25¢ a box, 5 for $1.00, all dealers, or Edmonson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

The Difference

It is always a question of standards. Does a person's desire arouses in Germans the desire to trample and insult, and in Britons the desire to succeed and better? It will take all the time and education in the world which matters up to our level. We could never, thank heaven, be degraded to theirs.

—London Daily Mail.

The Pills That Leads Them All—

The Pills That Leads Them All—The most portable and convenient pills to take are the most acceptable of preparations. But they must attest their power to be popular. As popular as any other pills, they are the most popular of all pills that they must fully meet all requirements. Accurately compounded and composed of ingredients that are easily digested, they are the best for the digestive organs, there is no surer medicine to be had anywhere.

The great fault of American servants is familiarity. To be familiar is to be inefficient. A familiar cook is as inefficient as a pessimistic doctor.

The speaker, a prominent society woman, is perhaps the most brilliant woman in New York, a fact which renders more poignant this anecdote.

"I had a cook," she said, "and I used to break at her own familiarity. What was the result? This cook discussing me in the servant's hall, said:

"The doctor's wife's a bad mistress, but she's a woman of only one idea."

"I don't care," she said, "but I'm a woman of only one idea."

"The doctor's wife's a bad mistress, but she's a woman of only one idea."

"I can't never get her to talk of a single thing but eating."

Europe's Spoiled Child

One always terrible lady the Kaiser was always terribly afraid of. This was the Queen of Spain, Victoria, Queen of whom he stood in great awe, and who had a way of treating him like the weak child of Europe he is. He liked King Edward, the Peacemaker, who had a very effective way of showing what kind of people never recovered from losing a Queen.

Everyone knows that his attitude towards this country was foolish. The Kaiser was always very jealous of King Edward's influence in the councils of Europe. The latter's reception that King Edward received when he went to speak to the King of Spain was not perfect.

Despatches That Thrill the Empire. The most famous despatch of modern times was the one from 1st Lt. Roberts, announcing the relief of Mafeking, with a thrill throughout the whole empire.

It concludes: "The flying column under the command of Col. Sir D. G. Cameron, while relieving Mafeking, marched at the rate of fifteen miles a day for fourteen consecutive days, and successfully accomplished its object, despite the constant fire of the enemy." Simple and direct, like the man who wrote it.

Havelock's despatch concerning the recovery of the diamond of the nation's treasures. "The cheer of the troops echoed through the courts of the city," he writes, "as we drove to the bugle square and then rushed to assured victory. The enemy could nowhere withstand them. In a few minutes the whole of the buildings were in our possession."

Of Wellington's despatches, the most interesting, and one of the longest, was that concerning the Battle of Waterloo. He first describes the action in some detail and the immensity of the result, and concludes: "Such a victory as ours could not be fought without great loss, and I am sorry to add that ours have been many, but we have been upon any occasion conducted itself better. The Division of Guards set an example which was followed by all, and there was no other such despatch of troops that did not behave well. I should not do justice to my own army, or to mine, or to the French, or to the Prussian army, if I did not attribute the successful result of this arduous day to the arrival in timely assistance of the British army."

The despatches of Wellington from the Peninsula are classics of their kind, so magnificently and masterfully put together, the most remarkable despatch which ever reached England lies under a glass case in the British Museum.

The despatch announcing the Battle of Trafalgar and the death of Nelson.

It is one of the great thrilling messages of the world.

The despatch is simple and unadorned. It was written by Nelson's second in command, the noble Col. Cochrane.

THE PATRIOTIC FUND

SPLENDID WORK ACCOMPLISHED

How the Funds Are Distributed to Wives and Families of Soldiers

at the Front

At the very commencement of the war and at no time as Canadian troops began to mobilize for active service, the question arose as to how their wives and families should be maintained during their absence. In not a few instances generous-minded employers offered to continue to pay wages to the wives and families who part to the families of the men who had been in their service. Many cases which were not provided for, or carelessness in the case of funds were started in several of our large cities to care for such. It soon became evident that the amount of money which could be made available for the families within their boundaries, there would be other cases, equally deserving, to be considered. The result was that arose the demand for a central or national fund that would consolidate and support local efforts and be available whenever and wherever needed.

In answer to numerous requests, His Royal Highness the Governor-General, who took the lead in this matter and the Canadian Patriotic Fund was organized with His Majesty the King as president. It is but natural that in the course of parliament and is empowered: "To collect, administer and distribute a fund for the maintenance in case of need of the wives, children, and dependent relatives of officers and men, residents of Canada, who during the present war, or for the time being, will be serving with the naval and military forces of the British Empire and Great Britain." This central body is composed of a general committee and an executive committee made up of leading men from every province of the Dominion.

The Canadian Patriotic Fund is given power by its charter to "establish branches or local organizations throughout Canada, and to co-operate with any association or organization established any place in Canada for purposes similar to those of the central body." The first step in the direction of united effort was taken when the Patriotic Fund Association of 1914 was organized. The work of the Fund during and since the Boer War, decided to dissolve and turn over its unexpended balance, amounting to about $7,400, to the new fund. Local organizations, that had already begun work, in Montreal, Toronto, and Ottawa, and also in the case of the Canadian Patriotic Fund and were duly accepted. A full measure of autonomy is granted to these local bodies, for the sake of convenience, certain conditions have been laid down and cordially accepted.

No organization, however reasonable, that has a limited membership only should undertake unaided, so large an enterprise. If contingencies should arise to the point that they do not go it, a drafter can do for those who are willing to suffer, and if need be, lay down their lives for our country.

Local organizations should get into communication as soon as possible with the members of the Provincial Legislature as he is the individual responsible for the organization of the Fund's necessary constituency.

Wellington's Name Saved His Life

The Duke of Wellington often said that his look: were of great use to him. On one occasion he owed his life to his crooked nose.

After the army passed from Spain into France, and occupied the Pyrenees, the Duke directed Lord Hill to take up a position at a short distance from the main body, across the river, to be ready to attack the enemy.

The water was very low, and easily fordable, at the time; but during the night a heavy rain came on. The next day the stream was nine feet deep, and Lord Hill, with only a few thousand men, was in danger of being cut off by Marshal Soult's whole army.

Nothing was heard of Lord Hill during the whole day, for he was discovered by the French.

On the following morning the Duke became anxious. He sent for his horses and for his equipment and leaves his home and he continued so long as he is with his horses, allowing reasonable time for return, directed to his home in Canada.

Not many families will be left in total desolation.

According to a circular issued by the Central Committee in Ottawa, the wife of a married man, who will have sent to her, each month, by the paymaster-general of the Military Department at Ottawa, a cheque for $50 a month.

The wife of a British Reservist will receive each month $30 (in 7d per day for herself) and $10 (in 2d per day) for each child, with a maximum of £10 (2d), so that a wife and three children would receive from the Imperial government $50.50 a day, making $17.10 per month.

Again, there are offers of wages overseas, in the case of wives of contractors, to part towards its support. Further, many employers are continuing to pay to the family of a soldier, according to the amount, one-half of the amount which such soldier as an employee had been accustomed to earn. These sources have also should be included by the local Relief Committee, and carefully considered when calculating what amount a family may justly receive from the fund.

At a meeting of the executives of the North and South Alberta branches it was decided that the following amounts may be justly paid to dependents during the broad-winner's absence:

	Per Month
Wife on her own account	$35.00
Allowance for one child between 10 and 15 years of age	3.00
Allowance for one child between 5 and 10 years of age	6.00
Allowance for one child under 5 years of age	6.00

With a maximum allowance of $60 for the largest family.

As custodian of the central fund, the Canadian Patriotic Fund will be responsible for exercising general oversight over the methods and activities of all the branches. A record of all names, so far as they are on the general front, will be kept at Ottawa and local organizations will be expected monthly to report "the amount of the funds on their lists and the amounts being allowed to each."

A moment's reflection will show two other reasons why a central fund is desirable.

The ability of communities to raise funds for their local organizations will be far from uniform. Some branches will be able to collect more than they locally need, power to satisfy. In this trying time, the strong should be willing to help to bear the burden of the weaker families will be found in districts where no relief organizations can be found. Hence the need of a central body to support its branches.

The central body will be in a position to make available the means of obtaining information by means of agents, some of the methods of which are now known, the conveyance of intelligence are as follows:

In plain clothes signal to the German lines from points in the hands of the enemy by means of colored lights at night and puffs of smoke.

Pseudo-laborers working in the fields between the armies have been detected, were they informed and placed in plain clothes "have acted as as scouts to the German cavalry."

German soldiers and sailors in plain clothes or in French or British uniforms who have remained in localities evacuated by the Germans in order to keep them from intelligence.

Many Parisians Are in Dire Straits

Paris is now firmly held by the German grip of war time.

Now the situation in the world, with cafes and theatres closed, a sombre background is furnished for the new life of Paris.

The new faces among the paper vendors, the beggars and the street sweepers.

One has always seen the push-cart people, but the war has brought on a new army of these street vendors, peddlers, pimps and pushers, pushing carts loaded with cauliflower, salads, potatoes and fruit. It is evident they are not accustomed to the new life, for they are always making ends meet at home. With fathers and sons serving under the colors, and the dreamless establishments where the workers are dead, something had to be done.

Street singers, who sell the world.

There are always a familiar sight here. But now one new singer. There are women and girls of the street, and boys serving under the colors, and the dreamless establishments where the workers are dead.

Street singers, who sell the world.

There are more beggars than us.

General Gallieni, the military governor, has a softer heart, warrior he is, than the city fathers have.

There are women and girls of the street, and boys serving under the colors, and the dreamless establishments where the workers are dead.

It is a remarkable fact, that there are few stations that boast of their electrical installations, the most famous excepting in Ireland.

Nowhere, where electrical beams are equal to 42,000,000 candlepower.

The Price of Peace

The Allies will go to Berlin to settle accounts, not to lay waste the Fatherland."

The defenders of civilization will destroy the warships, and the fortifications, and the fortresses, all the paraphernalia of Teutonic warfare by which terror has been spread.

They were digging trenches near Mons when a mass of Germans, who seemed to come from nowhere, who were quite unprepared in the matter of trench warfare, and all who talk of a lasting peace, ought to be the first to spread the Alsatian seed.

The whole company followed their sergeant's lead, but they were mowed down like wheat, and were discovered by the French. On the following morning the Duke became anxious.

He had never been equal to that of the Middlesexes by an amount which was not equal to that of the Middlesexes. They were digging trenches near Mons when a mass of Germans, who seemed to come from nowhere, who were quite unprepared in the matter of trench warfare, and all who talk of a lasting peace, ought to be the first to spread the Alsatian seed.

The Duke used to finish the story by adding: "And I protest that that is the greatest personal compliment ever paid me in the whole course of my life."

"When he became of that Russian count, he one who insulted you?"

"I'm choked to death. How did it happen?"

"Why, you see, he insulted me in his own language, and after he had insulted me, I made him swallow his words!"

"Harry—Many me and your small wife wishes will always be fulfilled."

"Carries—I am able to do that myself. What a man is who will gratify my biggest wishes."

Green—So the trolley car killed your foreman. Did it run over him, or and he died of hydrocephalus."

Espionage of the Enemy

How the Germans Receive Information in the Field

Espionage plays a large part in the conduct of war by the Germans.

They have evidently never forgotten the saying of Frederick the Great: "Without spies, we cannot win."

Indeed, until about twenty years ago there was a paragraph in the Field Service Regulations directing that "outposts and advanced guards, should always be supplemented by a party of espionage." Through these means the Germans have been able to learn much about the movements of our troops.

At the weeks of newspaper, post roads and windy winter roads, it was difficult to keep the German cavalry from deserting. Then, just as it was, the Germans had so often seen the air of that town was different from desert roads. STOP PRO-GERMAN PROPAGANDA

Stricter Censorship Will be Established Over Papers Entering and in Canada

The government is taking steps to stop so far as possible a persistent pro-German and pro-Austrian agitation in some of the foreign newspapers and periodicals entering Canada, which might later on lead to dangerous outbreaks. A pro-German campaign is being carried on whenever possible by certain German agents and sympathizers in the United States. German pamphlets and periodicals are being sent to Canada from the United States. German and Hungarian language are being mailed into Canada surreptitiously, and some articles of a decidedly German and pro-German character are appearing in a few of the German papers in the west, particularly in Alberta.

The government intends to establish a considerably stricter censorship over the entry and publication of German papers. It is to be noted that writings sent out by German editors in Canada are not observed, more drastic action will be promptly taken. One can now know of no one acting this pro-German propaganda on the British side of the paper, setting forth the British side of the case and the causes of the war.

SEVERE PAINS AROUND THE HEART

Are Nearly Always Caused by Stomach Trouble

Don't let a pain in the region of the heart frighten you into thinking you have heart disease. Just a pain in the back, seldom indicates kidney trouble, so don't be too anxious. It is scarcely ever present in organic heart disease. The pain is nearly always caused by a spasm of the muscles of the stomach and heart, accompanied by many nerves, and gas on the stomach causes pressure on the heart.

The pain may disappear if you tone up the stomach, eat the right things and don't worry. Dr. Williams' Pills will help. People are the best judges of their own health. Pills after each meal soon produces a healthy appetite, the food does not distress you, you are more energetic, and you feel no pain rising in the throat, and those misleading pains around the heart. Strength and energy return to you, and you are soon ready to take part to every part of the body. Mrs. Henry Connolly, Brookvale, P.E.I., says: "For a number of years I have suffered from indigestion which, despite all the treatment I took, was gradually growing worse. I would sometimes feel as though my heart was about to burst. The trouble came on so I would suffer from violent pain in the heart, and palpitations, which would last for hours. I was under a doctor's treatment for a long time, but with no benefit. A friend suggested Dr. Williams' Pills and I decided to take them. In about a month I felt much better and by the time I had taken another four boxes I was free from pain and able to eat all kinds of nourishing food. It is now several years since I have been free and I have not had a symptom of indigestion since. I take every opportunity of recommending Dr. Williams' Pills to friends who are ailing."

The senator and the mayor walked in the winter, the senator in the middle and considerably more fat, and, dearly as the major loved him, he also loved the senator.

The senator turned with a pleased expression on his benign countenance and said, "Major, did you see that paper in the paper this morning?"

"Oh, that's nothing," replied his friend. "The first time I saw you I laughed out loud!"

Whether the corn be of old or new growth, it must yield to Holloway's Corn Cure, the simplest and best cure offered to the public.

The Smiths were having trouble with their plumbing in the house and upon investigation found that the drain from one of the pipes was clogged. Mr. Smith afterwards recommended the use of Holloway's Corn Cure to his friends and concluded his story by remarking: "And what do you think the trouble was?" A frog had got caught in the drain.

"Oh!" wailed the tender-hearted Scot. "The poor froggie!"

A great impression has been made on British public opinion by Carter's attempt to make Russia a temporary and almost total empire at one stroke.

For a government to deprive itself voluntarily of $45,000,000 of revenue in peace time would be unprecedented; to do so in war time, when several million men are in the field is almost incredible.

London writers are agreed the Star's act as a splendid illustration of the new Russia, created by war.

Miner Says Attack is on Empire

Speaking at Manchester Lord Miner said the British empire was the strongest in the world, not France, not Russia, not even the British Isles, but the position of hegemony which Britain held and the ideals which Britain stood for were unique in the world. "We have been considerably successful in dealing with the French in Canada, but nobody could say we were absorbed. It is to be noted that two affecting one another extraordinarily well, and the political system, which they live in, is a tremendous success and an immense credit to the empire.

Foot and Mouth Disease.

In view of the recent serious outbreak of Foot and Mouth Disease in the United States, with the subsequent serious losses and necessity for stringent measures, Canadian stock owners should acquaint themselves with the particulars of this disease. A seven page pamphlet, prepared by Dr. J. G. Rutherford, formerly Veterinary Director General for Canada, outlines the symptoms and appearance of the disease with its treatment and preventive measures. In view of the fact that it is one of the most infectious diseases known, attacking nearly all species of farm animals, and that the many different ways in which its germs can be conveyed from one place to another render it very difficult to prevent its spread once it has made its appearance in a community, preventive measures of the utmost importance. In this pamphlet a number of such measures have been outlined by Dr. Rutherford, a knowledge of which should prove of great value should the disease make its appearance in Canada. Copies of this pamphlet, which is No. 9 of the Health of Animals Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, can be obtained by making application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.
